CHAPTER FOUR

How online marketing can work for you

With your knowledge of how to make online marketing work for your business, you're ready to take those next steps.

Introduction

People are looking for businesses online all the time.

69%

of people search for a local business at least one time per month according to BrightLocal's Local Consumer Review Survey.

That means that there's potential for people to find your business when they go looking.

Businesses that are online are seeing growth.

43%

experience significant growth with online sales according to an Insureon poll of more than 2,400 business owners.

That means that there's potential to do more business.

If you're considering getting started with online marketing, you may become overwhelmed by too many tools, never-ending expert advice, and the many marketing myths presented as fact. If you're already doing online marketing, you may be frustrated to find that it's not as easy as many claim it to be.

You're not alone.

If you're like many Constant Contact customers, you're busy trying to run and grow your business. You're wearing many hats and don't have the luxury of time to figure out how to navigate the cluttered and noisy world of online marketing.

What if there was a way to make sense of online marketing?

Here's the thing, it's not just about the tools available to you. You also need to understand the fundamentals of marketing so you can get the most out of those tools. Again, that's not easy when you're a business owner by trade and a marketer by necessity.

This guide is designed to give you practical advice.

Our goal is to show you how to connect the dots in online marketing. To point out what you should pay attention to so you have a strong foundation in place.

Then you'll have the knowledge, understanding, and confidence to take advantage of the new opportunities online marketing opens for you.

There's something else that's important to note.

As a small business, you have a huge advantage over big businesses because you actually know your customers. Many times you interact with them in a way big businesses cannot. It's that intimate knowledge that can keep your business top of mind and give you an edge.

Ultimately, we're talking about engaging with people. The location has changed to a digital format but at the other end of those devices are people. And people do business with businesses they know, like, and trust.

TIP

Here's a good rule of thumb as you navigate the digital landscape: If you wouldn't do it face-to-face with someone, don't do it online.

Keep this in mind about online marketing.

If you were asked where most of your business comes from today, what would you say? Many small businesses tell us “word of mouth.” When done correctly, online marketing provides more opportunities to extend the word of mouth that's already so important to your business.

As you know, business is built on relationships. Online marketing also allows you to strengthen existing relationships with current customers and build new ones.

Here's what we're going to cover:

Chapter 1: How people find you online

Chapter 2: How to set yourself up for success

Chapter 3: How it all comes together

Chapter 4: How online marketing can work for you

Now let's get to it!

How people find you online

We've mentioned that word of mouth now happens online.

People are talking up their favorite businesses directly; they're consuming and sharing content they find useful or entertaining from those businesses; and they're asking connections for recommendations. Your business has an opportunity to be part of more of these conversations.

The more you can do to keep your business top of mind and make it easy for others to talk about you, the more you increase the chances of people recommending or seeking you out when they need what you offer.

Beyond being part of the conversation, you must understand what people may find when they go looking for your business specifically by name, or by something your business offers.

And, of course, be aware that if people don't find your business when they go looking online, it begs the question, "Does your business even exist?"

What do people find when they go looking online for your business?

It's no secret that people turn to search engines like Google to get more information about the businesses they're investigating. Let's take a look at some of the things that may show up on a search engine results page, or SERP, when someone searches for a business by name:

- Paid ads
- Organic (non-paid) search results
- Google My Business listing
- Social media accounts
- Reviews
- Info from other sites

Example using "Constant Contact" as the search term

What if people are looking for something your business offers?

In the example on the previous page, we searched for a specific business — Constant Contact — by name. But, people don't always search by name. Sometimes they know they want to buy a product or a service, but they don't know who offers it. Then they type in a more generic search term, like “restaurants near me” or “tax preparers.”

Let's take a look at an example.

Imagine you were throwing a dinner party and you want to impress your friends with a selection of cheeses not found at the grocery store. So you jump on your computer or mobile device and search “cheese shops near me.”

Here's an example of what may come up — of course, your actual results will differ.

Notice that “cheese shops near me” brings up the listings in Google Maps first. This information comes from Google My Business profiles (more on that later).

Beyond the map listings, you may also find websites, social media accounts, reviews, and listings of the cheese shops near your location in the search results.

If we apply these results to what may show up for your business, your customers may find:

- Your website
- Social media accounts
- Review sites
- Business listings
- Competitor listings

Review Site

The screenshot shows a Google search for "cheese shops near me". The search bar is at the top with the Google logo on the left and search, voice, and close icons on the right. Below the search bar, there are several search results. The first result is from yelp.com, titled "THE BEST 10 Cheese Shops near Acton, MA - Last Updated ...". The second result is also from yelp.com, titled "Top 10 Best Cheese Shops near Concord, MA 01742 - Last ...". The third result is from concordcheeseshop.com, titled "Concord Cheese Shop – Purveyors of distinct cheeses, fine ...". ACTION STEPS

Search for your business.

What information shows up? Is it what you were expecting? Is there anything there that surprises you? Is there something missing?

Search for generic terms for your business.

Is your business there in either an organic or paid perspective?

Make a list of results that show up on the first page in both scenarios.

Here's the reality: If you're not online, prospects can't find you.

Whether people search for your business by name or something related to your business, your customers and prospects should be able to find you. Your job is to make sure your business can be found, the information is accurate, and that you're answering the questions your potential customers may have.

As people visit your website and click through from various search results, they're starting to form opinions about your business. Ultimately, they're asking themselves, "Is this the right business for me?"

If your business is present, engaging and interacting, and providing resources, you'll increase the chances of people finding your business and choosing you.

The question is, what tools should you use to build a strong foundation for your online marketing efforts? Let's take a look at how to set your business up for success.

How to set yourself up for success

With an understanding of how people may find you online, what should you do to make sure you have a strong foundation in place?

Let's talk about the tools you should use and some tips to get you started.

Here's what you need to get online:

A mobile-responsive website

An email marketing tool

A primary social channel

Up-to-date business listings

A way to easily create content

A mobile-responsive website: Your online hub.

Yes, your business should have a mobile-responsive website. Your website is at the center of all your online activities. It's the hub you'll want to point people to in order to drive business. You shouldn't rely solely on social media sites. You'll want to have a place you own.

Think about the first thing you do when you want to investigate a business. Typically, you'll go looking for a website to learn more. Your potential customers are doing the same. And they're frequently doing it on a mobile device, making a mobile-responsive website important for today's consumers.

A mobile-responsive website provides a great experience for visitors regardless of how they're viewing it because it adapts to the device being used to access it. With a mobile-responsive website, visitors won't struggle to find the information they need. The good news is that you no longer need to be a web designer to build an effective mobile-responsive website.

TIP

Buy a domain name for your website to match your business name.

In the early stages of your business, you may use free tools to get online. Eventually, you'll want to use your own domain (for example, YourBusinessName.com) to look professional and add credibility to your business.

With a mobile-responsive website, people will be able to read and navigate your site with ease regardless of the device they're using.

Want a custom designed site?

Your website should have at least three pages.

When people visit your website, they're looking for answers to their questions. Use the following pages to answer them.

← HOMEPAGE
Your front door

← ABOUT PAGE
Your story

← CONTACT PAGE
Your chance to connect

Think about your business specifically to add additional pages. For example, a restaurant should have a Menu page. If you're selling products, you should have an Online Store. A spa should have a Services page. Most businesses benefit from having blog functionality on their site as well (more on that later).

What should you put on those three core pages?
Let's take a look.

HOMEPAGE

What questions should you answer on your Homepage?

What is your product or service?

People don't have a lot of time. Be clear. Be specific.

Who is it for?

The visitor is asking, "Is this for me?" Who is your ideal customer? Do you serve a particular group or industry? Make it clear who your product or service is for.

So what?

Why would your potential customer care? Why should they choose you? Is there something about your product or service that makes it unique?

What should visitors do next?

Make a purchase? Contact you? Request a demo? Give an email address for resources? Make it clear what action people should take as their next step.

ABOUT PAGE

What questions should you answer on your About page?

What is your story?

What problem are you trying to solve for your customers? What obstacles did you face and overcome trying to solve this problem? Why is your business important to you?

Why should people care?

How will potential customers benefit from working with you? How will you solve their problem and give them peace of mind? Do you have testimonials to support?

What makes you or your business different?

What are you better at than anyone else? How will you use your skills to help your customers? What's your plan for them?

About page example

CONTACT PAGE

What questions should you answer on your Contact page?

Where can I find you?

Do you have a physical location(s)? Where is your company based? Which social media channels do you use?

When can I reach you?

What are your hours of operation? Are all locations the same? Are there different hours for support? Other functions?

How can I contact you?

Is there more than one way? Start with your preferred method. What should they expect in terms of a reply?

Contact page example

TIP

Don't have a physical location? You can use a P.O. box or list the areas you serve.

Tips for using images on your website.

Overall, use high-quality images on your website whenever possible. If you don't have your own images, sites like Unsplash offer free, high-quality stock images.

HOMEPAGE

Show what success looks like for someone using your product or service.

ABOUT PAGE

Use professional images of yourself and your staff that show your personalities, and show action shots. You want people to imagine what would it be like to work with you.

CONTACT PAGE

Show your physical location, especially if it's not in an obvious place. Show people having a great time. People want to get a sense of the atmosphere you create. This is important if you have a restaurant, bar, or event space. Include a map.

ACTION STEPS

Create a simple website.

Don't have a website? Create one with Constant Contact in minutes!

Review your website for the appropriate pages.

Make sure you're answering the questions suggested above.

Add sign-up forms to your website.

What happens if someone visits your website and doesn't make a purchase?

It's unlikely they'll come back again. But what if you had a way to contact them? Then you could encourage them to return to your site and eventually do business with you.

This is why you'll want to collect email addresses from people who visit your website. You can do this by adding sign-up forms to your website. In addition to using your website, you should also think about collecting emails in person and in print. Offer something of value to visitors in exchange for their email addresses — like a discount, exclusive content, or a way to show support — to get more people joining your list.

Once you have someone's email address, you're able to reach out on a consistent basis to encourage them to do business with you by sharing a combination of helpful and promotional messages.

Email marketing: It's how you drive business.

Why is email marketing important today? Simply, because it works. And yes, email is still ranked as one of the most effective marketing channels according to Ascend2's 2019 Digital Marketing Strategies Survey Summary Report.

Like your website, email marketing also creates an asset you own. The contacts on your list are yours. And if you're doing it right, those are people who have said, "Yes, I want you to market to me."

Email marketing also allows you to automate much of the communication so the emails your contacts receive feel timely and relevant. Automation assures you get the right messages to the right people at the right time.

When someone signs up to receive your emails, they are actively demonstrating interest in you and your business.

Take advantage of this time when a new contact is highly engaged and automate a couple of emails to continue the conversation. Whether they sign up today or a week from today, they won't have to wait for you to manually send an email to hear from you.

TIP

Create a simple series of emails to welcome people to your email list.

More on the next pages.

Here are two emails to include in your automated welcome series.

WELCOME SERIES
EMAIL ONE

Welcome/ Delivery email

Send this Welcome email immediately after someone signs up. Deliver what was promised, welcome your new subscribers, and reiterate what they should expect in the future.

EMAIL TWO

Invitation to Connect

Send this email a few days after your Welcome email. Let your new contacts know of the other ways in which they can engage with you – this will most likely be on your social channels – so invite them to connect with you.

This email is important because once your subscribers connect with you in other locations, you have multiple ways to engage and stay top of mind.

And, if your subscribers engage with you on these public forums, your business gets exposed to their connections who are likely also to make excellent prospects for your business.

Social media: It doesn't have to overwhelm you.

If you're like many of the small business owners we talk to, social media marketing can feel overwhelming. And it often feels like you're spinning your wheels — doing a lot of activity across many channels with little to show for it.

You should reserve your business name on the important social channels so you have it. But you don't have to be active everywhere. That's why we recommend starting with one channel that makes sense for your business.

Ideally, choose a primary social channel based on the customers you're trying to reach. Also, consider what channel you're most comfortable using and how it fits with the personality of your business.

TIP

Choose the right social media platform for your business.

Find out how.

Each social channel also has its own personality.

You should NOT be posting the exact same thing on every channel. You can use the same theme but modify your posts to suit the channel.

You can see an example of what we mean here by following Netflix on Facebook and LinkedIn.

The content and updates the company shares on Facebook focus on show information for consumers, whereas updates on LinkedIn focus on the business of running Netflix.

Now let's take a look at each channel's personality.

Listings and review sites: Provide accurate information and respond appropriately.

Today people use a variety of apps and websites to find the information they're looking for. Sometimes these listings are automatically generated and other times your customers may create them.

As the business owner, you're able to take control of these listings by claiming them – which is often as simple as clicking a button and submitting requested information that proves the business is yours.

Make sure all information is correct and up to date across all sites. The last thing you want is for someone to find incorrect information as it could cause you to lose business.

TIP

Once you've claimed a listing, you're able to update the information on those pages for accuracy.

Create content: Increase your chances of getting found.

Content is what people search for, consume, and share online. If you produce relevant content on a consistent basis that aligns to what your audience is searching for, you'll have more people finding you and sharing your content. You'll also make more connections for your business and reach more people, who will also share your content.

This content helps search engines like Google find your business and can result in free traffic to your website. Yes, there are some technical aspects to consider for search engine optimization or SEO. But at its core, it's about delivering relevant and meaningful content to the people you're trying to reach.

A blog is functionality that makes it easy to add content, or posts, to your website on a regular basis. Whereas your website contains information about products and services, a blog gives you the ability to demonstrate your expertise by answering more specific questions for prospects and customers.

DID YOU KNOW?

A blog allows you to create helpful content for your audience directly.

ACTION STEPS

Add a blog to your website domain.

List the top questions you get from prospects and customers.

Create a calendar to regularly publish content that answers those questions.

Search engines love fresh blog content.

You get the most benefit when your blog is connected directly to your website and not off on some other platform. Choose a publishing frequency that works best for your business. That could be once a week or once a month. You can then use this content on your social and email channels to lead people back to your website.

How to amplify your efforts.

Once you have the foundational elements in place, you can and should use paid advertising to amplify your efforts. The online landscape has changed over the years. Where it used to be enough to just be there to reach your potential customers, algorithms on most social channels limit the access you have to your audience. Algorithms also impact where your business ranks in search results. In many cases, you'll have to pay to reach people.

That's not bad. You just want to do it in a smart way.

Facebook and Instagram Ads

Ads on Facebook and Instagram are powerful because not only are there lots of people on the platforms, you can also target your ads specifically to increase their effectiveness.

Target your ads based on location, demographics, interests, behaviors, and connections. You can even create a lookalike audience to target people similar to those already on your email contact list.

ACTION STEPS

✓ Use ads to get new signups for your email list.

DID YOU KNOW?

Constant Contact has simplified the process for creating an ad and bidding on keywords so that you can quickly start promoting your organization to the people who are actively looking for what your business offers.

Google Ads

People use Google every day to search for specific goods, services, programs, and organizational information. You can pay to have Google Ads display your text ads at the top of the search results based on specific keywords. These ads are pay-per-click (PPC), which means you pay only when people click on your ad.

How much should you spend on ads?

When you're first getting started set aside $100 for testing. As you learn what does and doesn't work, you can invest more money in the ads that are working to bring you more business.

How it all comes together

Now that you have a better sense of how consumers are finding businesses online and the tools you'll need to position yourself for success.

How do you bring it all together to drive new and repeat business? The reality is that if you're not top of mind, people forget about your business. And that can cause you to lose money. Let's take a look at how this all comes together.

Connect

It's all about getting people to your door or mobile-responsive website. You now know that happens through word-of-mouth referrals, searches online, paid advertising, mobile searches on apps, or through listing sites.

Experience

Wherever your prospective customer is engaging with you, you should provide a positive experience. That's often as simple as making sure people are finding the answers to their questions, that you're responding and engaging with people, and generally being helpful.

Entice

At this stage where someone is feeling good about your business, it's a great time to entice them to stay in touch with you. This could be mean following you on social channels, or even better, joining your email list.

Engage

Next, your job is to engage with these people who have opted to connect with you on a regular basis. This engagement is at the heart of the relationship between a brand and its customers.

Engagement keeps you top of mind and puts you on the path to creating repeat customers, loyalty, referrals, and increased exposure for your business. Simply, engagement creates more awareness for your business and brings more people to your door.

When your connections engage with you on social, forward your emails, or share your content with their contacts, those interactions create more visibility for your business. In turn, this engagement brings new people to your business and feeds into the ways people find your business in the first place.

And that's how it all works together.

By focusing on those core elements of connect, experience, entice, and engage, a small business can create the relationships and interactions that keep existing customers coming back and increase word of mouth and social visibility that brings new customers through the door.

TO RECAP

Here's how you can take action:

Create a mobile-responsive website as a resource for potential customers.

By answering questions of prospects and creating content that's helpful, you increase the chances of people finding you through search, consuming the information you provide, and sharing those resources with their connections.

TO RECAP

Here's how you can take action:

Capture email addresses from website visitors.

Offer a promotion or exclusive content to entice people to join your email list. Then you'll have a way to follow up and encourage people to do business with you.

Here's how you can take action:

Interact and engage on social. Remember it's called social media for a reason.

Social works best when you're not just asking people to purchase your products. Use social to generate awareness, support customer service, and drive action. Ultimately, try to get social followers to take the next steps by visiting your website and joining your email list.

The bottom of the page shows a comment section with a comment from John Kliff asking about a sale.

Here's how you can take action:

Engage with reviews to build trust.

Say “Thanks” when your customers take the time to say positive things about your business. Also, be sure to attend to negative reviews as well. People are looking to see how you'll respond. Sometimes the feedback is legitimate, sometimes it's not. Respond professionally to see if you can rectify the issue. People watching can tell if someone's being unreasonable.

Here's how you can take action:

Use email marketing to provide exclusive, helpful, and promotional content.

Email marketing allows you to build more meaningful customer relationships and drive business because people have opted-in to receive information from you. They're more engaged with your business than the typical social media follower. Provide subscribers with deals and information they won't receive other places. Email can also drive action on your social channels.

Here's how you can take action:

Amplify your efforts with paid advertising.

With your fundamentals in place, you can drive traffic to your website, expose your business to more people, and collect more email address to get even more business.

How will you know your online marketing efforts are working?

There's no shortage of things to measure today. Likes, followers, shares, opens, and clicks are all leading indicators. Don't focus on these vanity metrics alone to determine success. Pay attention to the things that are meaningful for your business.

Some high-level questions you should answer to gauge success:

- Are people visiting your website?
- Are people joining your email list?
- Are people contacting you?
- Are people making purchases?

How long does online marketing take to work?

From an organic, or non-paid perspective, you should think in terms of months. But once you build that foundation and have those strong relationships with your customers, the time frame shortens. Then you can experiment with paid advertising to amplify those efforts that are working.

REMEMBER

Across all that you're doing online, the idea should be to use your mobile-responsive website, email marketing, social channels, business listings, content, and advertising to be useful to your current and potential customers.

- Create your website as a resource.
- Use other channels to drive people to your website.
- Capture email addresses and engage to drive new and repeat business.
